SPEAKER BIOGRAPHIES

Mark Burton- CLA Regional Surveyor

Mark initially worked on the Countryside Stewardship team at Natural England before studying an MSc in estate management at the Royal Agricultural University in Cirencester. He then worked for three years as a land agent in Devon, qualifying as a chartered surveyor in the process, before joining the CLA in 2022.

As a generalist land agent, Mark has advised a wide variety of clients on a number of issues, but has a particular knowledge of grants and subsidies, environmental credits and Agricultural Holdings Act tenancy succession.

Scott Cameron- National Client Relationship Manager - CLA Energy Services

Scott spent the first 12 years of his career in the football industry as a professional coach and manager. Scott made the move into commercial energy 3 year ago and spends his days managing the relationships formed with external partners and looking after client's accounts. Scott has particular expertise in Energy Management and Energy Monitoring with an in-depth knowledge on consumption reduction strategies.

Adam Holt – Account Director - CLA Energy Services

Adam originally trained as a mechanical engineer before making a move into the utilities industry. After spending 7 years working within the domestic energy market Adam made a move into the commercial space and has worked within it for the last 6 years; holding senior level positions in both sides of the market. Adam specialises in purchasing, procurement and energy management and has secured advance purchasing agreements, bulk purchasing agreements and flexible purchasing agreements for organisations of all sizes in a range of sectors.

Kevin Atchison – Energy Solutions Manager – CLA Energy Services

Kevin worked in the industrial electrical sector for many years then moved into the utility industry over 13 years ago. He has worked in a hybrid roll combining energy procurement with energy monitoring and renewables, helping businesses reduce their energy budgets.

Kevin specialises in flexible energy procurement alongside partnering with solution manufacturers and installers to deliver on site generation and energy/carbon reduction projects.

Tom Smith – Project Development Manager - Multi Source Power

Tom originally trained in project management, over the last 5 years working in large scale events, heavily focused on project managing on site power operations through design and development of diesel generator systems before moving into Battery Energy Storage which he has worked in for the last 2 years.

Tom specialises in project development and sales generation for Multi Source Power.
