WISTON ESTATE

Wiston Estate is a family-run vineyard and winery based in Sussex, with a passion for producing award-winning English wines. Set amidst the 6,000-acre estate of farmland, woodland and pasture, the first of Wiston Estate's vines were planted in 2006. Since then, Wiston has become recognised as one of England's most celebrated sparkling wine producers—and has been named WineGB's Winery of the Year four times. Wiston's aim for their winemaking is simple—purity, ability to age and expression of place—the South Downs.

For centuries the land Wiston Estate now stands on has been a place for people. Today, the Estate comprises 14 farms, 2,000 acres of pasture and over 100 homes, and is criss-crossed with 58km of footpaths and bridleways.

The Goring Family believe that the land is not just a place for people. Some 1,200 acres of woodland cover Wiston Estate, and 75km of hedges are home to a number of British birds, insects and animals. Nature is vital to rural enterprise, and the family strive to reciprocate the gifts of the land. Partnerships with local communities, and with charities like the Steyning Downland Scheme, enable collaboration with a long-term perspective on change.

With the support of the local community and visitors, the family aim to make the most of the natural and made means and generate the widest benefit for all.

CHAIRMAN'S REPORT - SUSSEX BRANCH

With a general election likely over the next 12 months, we are also working with candidates and officials from all the major parties to highlight the issues that matter most to members.

Our work on tackling rural crime continued this year, with some notable developments. Tougher sentencing and improved powers for the courts to tackle hare coursing were added to the Police Crime Sentencing and Courts Act 2022. The CLA also joined with local authorities and other professional bodies in a joint letter calling on the Sentencing Council to provide tougher guidance on fines and sentences for culprits of fly-tipping. The government has since committed to reform of the waste industry with increased background checks for firms who move or trade waste, and the introduction of mandatory digital waste tracking.

There will undoubtedly be more challenges to overcome over the next 12 months, and the CLA's role in championing the rural economy and supporting members has never been so important. Please do make the most of your membership by using the CLA's brilliant advice service and attending events, and spread the word of the benefits of being part of the organisation.

I would like to thank the Sussex branch committee for their dedication and support, as well as the CLA teams in the South East and nationally for their continued hard work on behalf of us all.

Francis Hampden

Welcome to the CLA Sussex branch AGM 2023.

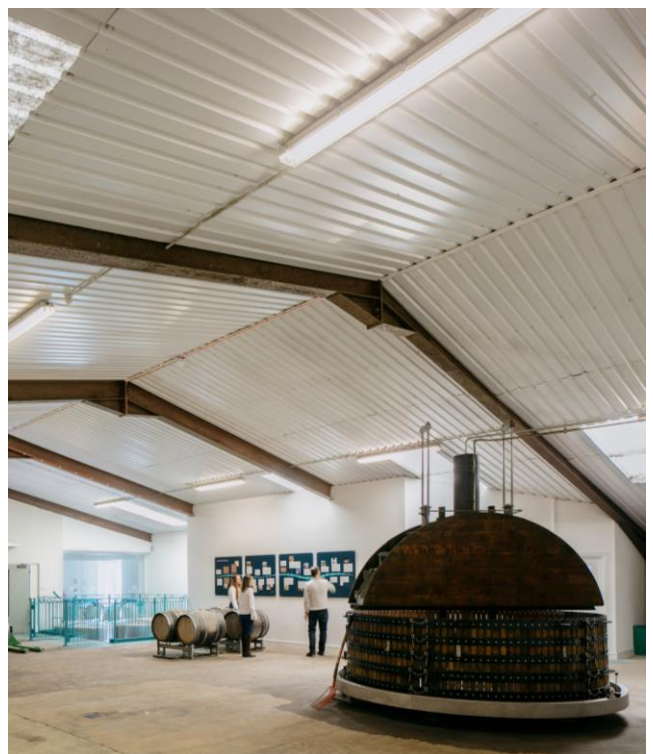

With last summer topping 40C, the heat has certainly been on farming over the past year, while rising energy prices, higher input and raw costs, and labour shortages have meant many rural businesses are being squeezed.

This is a crucial time for the agricultural transition process. At our Rural Business Conference in December, CLA president Mark Tufnell laid bare how rural communities are running out of patience with the government. While some information about payment rates under Environmental Land Management (ELM) schemes was released earlier this year, the CLA will continue to hold the government's feet to the fire to gain further clarity and answers to help members plan for the longer-term.

But the last 12 months has not all been doom and gloom, with a pleasing number of events and in-person gatherings held. One of the highlights was the South of England Show earlier this summer, where the CLA once again had its marquee on the main ring. The flagship breakfast event was standing-room only this year, with the tent full of members and guests keen to hear from keynote speaker Paul Sedgwick of the Crown Estate. The CLA also held its popular rural awards at the show, celebrating conservation and community achievements in Sussex, and the events attracted attendance from MPs and the media.

The CLA has also organised agricultural transition and renewable energy events locally, bringing members the latest policy developments from experts. Please do get in touch with the South East office if you need further advice or missed the sessions and require assistance.

The CLA works closely with MPs and Ministers to press home the importance of a profitable and sustainable farming industry. We raise issues with the planning system which are holding rural businesses back, have been calling for a simpler tax regime as well as urging investment in skills and innovation.
